

Investment Philosophy/Process

Seeks positive equity-like returns with potentially lower risk than common stocks. The strategy focuses on publicly traded, U.S. convertible securities.

A convertible security is generally a bond, preferred stock or other security that may be converted, within a specified period of time and at a pre-stated price or formula, into common stock of the same or a different issuer.

Seeks the opportunity to participate in the capital appreciation of the underlying common stocks, while relying on the fixed-income aspect of the convertible securities to provide current income and reduced price volatility.

Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10- year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The Morningstar percentile ranking is based on the fund's total-return percentile rank relative to all managed products that have the same category for the same time period. The highest (or most favorable) percentile rank is 1%, and the lowest (or least favorable) percentile rank is 100%. Morningstar total return includes both income and capital gains or losses and is not adjusted for sales charges.

Risks

An investor should consider investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses carefully before investing. To obtain a prospectus, which contains this and other information, please log on to www.1290funds.com or contact your investment professional. Read the prospectus carefully before investing.

Principal Risks: Performance may be affected by one or more of the following risks.

The value of convertible securities fluctuates in relation to changes in interest rates and the credit quality of the issuer and, in addition, fluctuates in relation to the underlying common stock. A convertible security may be subject to redemption at the option of the issuer at a price established in the convertible security's governing instrument, which may be different than the current market price of the security. If a convertible security held by the Fund is called for redemption, the Fund will be required to permit the issuer to redeem the security, convert it into underlying common stock or sell it to a third party. Investments by a Fund in convertible debt securities may not be subject to any ratings restrictions, although in such cases the Fund's Sub-Adviser will consider such ratings, and any changes in such ratings, in its determination of whether the Fund should invest in and/or continue to hold the securities. Convertible securities are subject to equity risk, interest rate risk and credit risk and are often lower quality securities, which means that they are subject to the same risks as an investment in lower rated debt securities. Since it derives a portion of its value from the common stock into which it may be converted, a convertible security is also subject to the same types of market and issuer-specific risks that apply to the underlying common stock.

ICE BofAML U.S. Convertible Index (the "Index") consists of U.S. dollar denominated investment grade and non-investment grade convertible securities sold into the U.S. market and publicly traded in the United States. The Index constituents are market value weighted based on the convertible securities prices and outstanding shares, and the underlying index is rebalanced daily.
