

Investment Philosophy

- Seeks to deliver attractive risk-adjusted returns through an actively managed core portfolio of U.S. investment-grade bonds
- Invests opportunistically around the core using sovereign, credit and currency strategies to add income and price appreciation potential
- Offers a complement to U.S.-only “total return” strategies

Value Analysis

- The manager believes interest rates and exchange rates move toward their long-term averages over time.
- Their process seeks market levels that are at extremes—and may be due to normalize.
- The manager pairs this world view with a search for issuers with fundamental characteristics that add a potential margin of safety to attractive valuations.
- The manager evaluates the risk/reward profile of appealing opportunities for inclusion in the portfolio.

In selecting non-U.S. securities, the team will actively manage currency exposure—and may at times invest pro-actively in currencies.

Fund Objective

Seeks to maximize total return consisting of income and capital appreciation.

How the Fund Invests

Under normal circumstances, the Fund will invest at least 80% of its net assets, plus borrowings for investment purposes, in a diversified portfolio of U.S. and foreign bonds or other debt securities of varying maturities and other instruments that provide investment exposure to such debt securities, including forwards or derivatives such as options, futures contracts or swap agreements.

Risks

This material must be preceded or accompanied by the prospectus.

Principal Risks:

Investment Grade Securities Risk: Debt securities are generally considered to be investment grade if they are rated BBB or Higher.

Credit Risk: The Fund is subject to the risk that the issuer or the guarantor of a fixed income security is unable or unwilling to make timely principal and/or interest payments.

Foreign Securities Risk: Investments in foreign securities involve risks not associated with investments in U.S. securities. Foreign markets may be less liquid, more volatile and subject to less government supervision and regulation than U.S. markets. Security values, also may be negatively affected by changes in the exchange rates between the U.S. dollar and foreign currencies. There are greater risks involved in investing in emerging market countries and/or their securities markets, and investments in these countries and/or markets are more susceptible to loss than investments in developed countries and/or markets.

Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index covers the U.S. dollar denominated investment-grade, fixed-rate, taxable bond market of securities. The index includes bonds from the Treasury, government-related and corporate securities, agency fixed rate and hybrid adjustable mortgage pass through securities, asset-backed securities and commercial mortgage-backed securities.

Average effective duration is a measure of a fund's interest-rate sensitivity-- the longer a fund's duration, the more sensitive the fund is to shifts in interest rates.

Yield to maturity is the rate of return anticipated on a bond if held until the end of its lifetime.

The Fund may not be successful in implementing its investment strategy or may not employ a successful investment strategy, and there can be no assurance that the Fund will grow to or maintain an economically viable size, which could result in the Fund being liquidated at any time without shareholder approval and at a time that may not be favorable for all shareholders. Until the Fund is fully capitalized it may not be pursuing its investment objective or executing its principal investment strategies.
